Commissions For 3 Annapolis Graduates Held Back By Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Austrian-born janitor, shaken because the Navy has held back a commission from his Annapolis-graduated son, says he's to blame because he bought insurance 17 years ago from an organization now on the attorney general's subversive list. In halting sentences, Andrew Yadowsky explained last night he was sold on a policy for his son, Peter, because members of the International Workers Order told him it was cheap and he could get sick benefits from it. Yadowsky, a naturalized citizen, said he never belonged to the IWO.

"My son didn't know anything," said Yadowsky in a telephone interview from his Jersey City, N. J., home, "and he has to suffer because I insured him. He never paid anything. He was 13 years old."

Peter Yadowsky graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy yesterday along with 851 classmates. But the Navy has said that he and two other midshipmen—Harold I. Pollack, Hartford, Conn., and Paul Shimek Jr., Hazen, Ark.—cannot be commissioned until security checks on them are completed. Meanwhile, the three were to go home and await the outcome of the investigations.

Yadowsky said he was at Annapolis, Md., yesterday and had discussed the situation. Pollack's parents were on hand for the graduation exercises, but were not reached for comment. In Hazen, Shimek's parents were not available for comment.

A spokesman at the Naval Academy told the Hartford Courant: "The question of loyalty is not involved in Pollack's case. Rather it is a question in the broad category of what is called 'security.'" He did not elaborate.

Pollack stood 118th in the class of 852, the 114th class to win diplomas from the Naval Academy. In Hartford, neighbors described him as "a very nice boy" and his family as "good solid Americans, very patriotic with no foreign ideas." Teachers who knew Pollack in high school had warm praise for him.

One Hartford neighbor said Mrs. Pollack, the boy's mother, "was very happy when she left for Annapolis" and that "she didn't know anything about this; she was so proud of her boy."

Pollack's mother was said to have been a co-reiter at a Hartford department store until it went out of business.

Yadowsky related that he bought the IWO insurance about 1937, "I wanted the sick benefits," he said. "I paid cheap and I thought I would be all right and now have trouble." He added that he dropped the insurance when the government began its check on his son. "Please do something to help," he pleaded. "I feel so badly for I didn't know anything, I just took the insurance."

$500 Suit Brought For Damage To Cherry Tree

Clark Ashman of RD 2, East Palestine has sued Robert Taylor of Negley for $500 damages to a white sweet cherry tree. Ashman, in an action filed in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon, said Taylor crashed into the tree with his auto last winter, uprooting it.

Besides the loss of fruit which he has harvested from the tree the past 10 years, Ashman said, the tree furnished the only shade to that part of his land.

ALIEN IS ARRESTED

CLEVELAND (AP)—Immigration Department agents located one alien yesterday in a check of restaurants in Warren, Ohio, for Greek seamen who jumped ship. Andrew Koutsouris, 27, was picked up in an eating place where he was earning $67.50 a week and his meals for washing dishes. J. S. Kershner, chief of the U.S. Immigration Service here, reported the arrest.

Committee OKs Ike Tax Plan

Approves Dividend Relief Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower scored a big victory for his 1954 tax program in Senate Finance Committee action yesterday on the omnibus tax revision bill.

The committee voted by the expected wide margin of 9 to 4, with two abstentions, to accept the last remaining major provision in the House-passed bill — the controversial plan to give substantial tax relief to stockholders on dividend income.

This provision — strongly sought by the administration — involves the biggest revenue loss in the bill except for the accelerated depreciation section which the committee approved Thursday.

The Senate group now expects to clean up work on the 875-page measure next Monday or Tuesday. However, the staff will have a lot of drafting work to do so the bill is not expected to be ready for the floor until about June 21.

One big question that still may come up in the committee is a proposal for a general income tax cut by raising personal exemptions.

Chances Are Improved One veteran member, who declined use of his name, said the chance for a general reduction had been improved greatly by the group's decision to retain the dividend income relief provision.

This also was the view of Sen. George (D-Ga.), senior committee Democrat. Asked after the vote yesterday whether the action brightened the chances for a general income tax cut of some kind, he said:

"I would think so. I would hate to go to the floor with a bill which gave this dividend relief and didn't do anything for 90 per cent of the taxpayers."

George came up yesterday with a surprise plan which he offered as a substitute for the dividend

O'Hara Raps Proposed Bus Service Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Rep. Delmar T. O'Hara yesterday declared proposed changes in bus service between East Liverpool and Steubenville will result in inadequate schedules.

He testified before an attorney-examiner of the state utilities commission at a hearing involving three bus companies. The Valley Motor Transit Co. of East Liverpool wants to abandon service between Wellsville and Steubenville. A new concern, Steubenville Bus Co. wants the right to serve between Steubenville and Port Homer, five miles south of Wellsville. Greyhound wants permission to pick up passengers between Port Homer and Wellsville.

O'Hara said residents along the line want the present service or more frequent service for the "gap" between Port Homer and Wellsville. Alex Hogg of Youngstown, Greyhound division chief, testified Greyhound plans to make stops in the "gap" on its present three daily trips each way. Valley Transit now makes a dozen trips a day each way.

A Steubenville Bus representative testified that company is "not interested" in serving north of Port Homer.

Interested parties have until June 20 to file briefs.

Blasts Shatter Chemical Plant, Hurt 52 Persons

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Tons of water pumped from the Kanawha River held at bay today a dangerous chemical plant fire after a series of five "atomic-like" explosions shook the countryside and injured at least 52 persons. Company officials said as far as they could tell all personnel were accounted for. About 200 men were working in the Institute plant of the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp., about 11 miles west of here, when a tank car exploded and set off a chain of four other blasts. No Roll Call Taken

A spokesman said there was a "possibility" some might have been caught in the blast area. He would not elaborate other than to say there had been no "roll call" of employees.

About 40 of those hurt were employees of the plant. The others included numerous persons cut or otherwise injured by glass and flying debris.

Unaccounted property damage resulted from the blasts heard or felt within a 15-mile radius of the sprawling plant in the heart of West Virginia's chemical valley. It was more than five hours before firemen got the upper hand on the huge fire in the styrene plant. Until electric power could be restored and water pumped from the nearby river, the fire raged unabated.

Blast Shakes Buildings Homes and business places were shaken and windows shattered in South Charleston, St. Albans, Institute and Dunbar, spotted a few miles apart along the heavily-industrialized river front.

The first explosion, with a fireball strikingly like that from an atomic blast, occurred about 7:40 p. m. EST. Four hours later, firemen were beginning to gain on the chemical-fed blaze.

Delbert Simmons of Dunbar, driving past the plant at the time of the first explosion, said, "all I could see was a big flash of white fire and my car turned around."

The original blast and four succeeding ones spread fear and consternation throughout the area. At Watt Powell Baseball Park in Charleston, the first explosion sounded like a roll of thunder. Pete Drodgy, who resides about 1 1/2 miles from the Institute plant, said the first blast rocked his house.

Like Gigantic Mushroom "The third blast looked like a gigantic mushroom," he said. "The smoke and flames seemed to rise about 300 to 400 feet into the air. It jarred pictures from the walls in houses all around here and broke windows."

Drodgy said he felt the "heat on my face but I didn't feel any shock."

Neil Boggs, a Charleston Gazette reporter who witnessed atomic tests in Nevada while in the Army, said the fifth and last explosion was "the biggest thing I've seen since the atomic bomb. It lasted about two minutes and gave off a terrific, suffocating, searing heat, but there was no shock wave."

A. Rankin Dogachy of St. Albans Stop 14, across the Kanawha and about 100 yards downstream, said "it was just like an earthquake."

A one and a half story masonry and cinder block kennel on Donachy's property was split horizontally from the force of the explosions. The crack, about two inches wide and 30 feet long, ran across both sides of the structure.

The first blast was followed by three secondary ones as storage vessels for chemicals were set off. The last blast was about an hour after the first.

Telephone service was virtually cut off between Institute, Dunbar and Charleston.

The explosions knocked out electric power at the plant and efforts

McCarthy Sees Probe Victory

Declares Phone Calls Blow Up Army Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) claimed today the story told in long-secret monitored telephone calls "blows up" the Army's case against him in his bitter battle with top Pentagon officials.

Before taking off for Ripon, Wis., to make a speech marking the 100th anniversary of the Republican party, McCarthy left no doubt that he regarded yesterday's hectic developments as a prelude to final victory in the swirling controversy.

"Blows Up Whole Case" He told newsmen that disclosures during the televised Senate probe into the dispute of hitherto-unpublished transcripts of Army-monitored phone conversations, between Senate investigations subcommittee senators and Secretary of the Army Stevens, "blows up their whole case."

The calls spilled into the hearing record one after another yesterday, breaking a logjam over their release that had held them back since soon after the public inquiry began April 22.

Calls Quoted Stevens

The calls quoted Stevens, in a March 8 talk with Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) shortly before the Army filed its "pressure" charges against McCarthy and his aides, as saying that then current reports of preferential treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine "were very much exaggerated." The Army's formal charges accused the McCarthy camp of seeking by improper means to win special privileges for Schine, a former consultant to the investigations subcommittee headed by McCarthy.

The calls also disclosed that Symington joined forces with the Army side at one point in the dispute before it got to the hearings stage.

Symington was quoted as advising Stevens to seek advice from Clark Clifford, a former top aide to President Truman, and as telling Stevens that Deputy Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers was "one other fellow that is on your side."

The Missouri senator gave this explanation as the content of his transcribed discussions with Stevens came to light.

He had willingly taken "sides" with the Army in an effort to help stop McCarthy's reported abuse of Army witnesses; that he had not talked to any principals in the case outside the hearing room once the subcommittee took on its investigations; and that he did not know if Stevens ever went to Clifford. Rogers, already named in McCarthy contentions that adminis-

Sixth Cope Brother To Get Degree From Mt. Union College

When John Thomas Cope of Salem receives his bachelor of arts diploma at commencement exercises at Mount Union College Sunday he will be the sixth brother of the Cope family to earn a degree at Mount, certainly making that one of the largest Mount "families" in the history of the school.

In addition, two sisters also attended Mount Union, although not completing work for degrees.

A business major, young Cope will follow the footsteps of his father, Joseph J. Cope of RD 2, Salem, in the nursery business. The five other brothers have followed diverse pathways in other directions.

First in the family to graduate from Mount was Richard J. Cope, class of 1931, who is now safety manager for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. in Houston, Texas.

Robert K. Cope was the next to graduate, in 1933, and is now in New Jersey as a salesman for a wholesale funeral supply concern.

Joseph B. (Ben) Cope graduated in 1938 and is production manager at the same Houston Goodyear plant where Richard Cope is located. A year later, in 1939, the fourth brother was graduated from Mount Union. William S. Cope is now in England in the British School for Land-Air Warfare in Salisbury, following duty in the Pacific Theater during World War II and during the famed Berlin airlift. He is a lieutenant colonel and has been chief of the operations branch of the Tactical Ar

Annual Recognition Assembly Held At High School Friday

A graduating seniors' procession, al and recessional in traditional cap and gown highlighted the annual recognition assembly held at Salem High School Friday afternoon for presentation of awards.

Student Council President Robert Talbot presented the Council awards and gift to the school, Vivian Vavrek, girls athletic association president, gave her awards, and the new American Legion commander, Clifford Whinnery, presented certificates and medals to Legion essay contest winners.

Chester Brautigam awarded senior scholarship examination certificates and Charles Jones, senior class president, presented the school the annual class gift.

Thomas Crothers named Wendell Dunn recipient of the Arion Music Award which has been presented to outstanding musicians only five times in the past eight years. Crothers also announced the Marie Burns music winners: Sandar De-Jane, Jerry Wolford, Dick Coppock, Bill Jermolenko, Duane Bates, Carol Luke, Barbara Cameron, and Jackie Welsh.

James Howell was given the Bausch-Lomb science award by Mrs. Fred Cope.

Mrs. Frank Tarr disclosed the names of Brooks Contest winners for creative writing. They are: Kathleen Baker, Barbara Cobourn, Elaine Cavanaugh, Donna Blonder, Jan Harris, Curtice Loop, Barbara Cameron, Jim Gow and Nance Zeek.

To lose the assembly, Miss DeJores Leone was announced the "Football Queen" for 1954-55 by this year's queen, Miss Doris McNamee.

Baccalaureate services will be held tomorrow evening at 8 at the high school with commencement exercises scheduled Thursday evening at 8:15 at Reilly Stadium, weather permitting.

Rev. Clare Davis, pastor of the Methodist Church, will deliver the sermon at the Baccalaureate services.

Two social events, the annual Junior-Senior prom, held last night at the Salem Golf Club, and the Alumni Association Banquet scheduled next Friday evening, also are included in the year-end activities. Tickets for the banquet are now on sale.

The public is invited to both the Baccalaureate service and the commencement exercises if the latter is held out of doors.

To Attend Convention

Columbiana County Commissioners W. A. Southan, W. A. Huns-ton, and Galen Greenisen, and their wives, Probate Judge Louis Tobin and his wife, Mrs. Frances Morton, county recorder, and Mrs. Esther Rutter, commission clerk will attend the annual meeting of the National Association of County Officials June 8-12.

Pfc. John Costa Victim Of Air Crash In Florida

Found By Searchers In Everglades; Rites To Be Held Here Later

Searchers yesterday found the body of Marine Pfc. John Costa, 21, of Salem, who was missing after the mid-air collision of two Marine Air Corps planes during a practice flight over the Florida Everglades on Thursday.

There was only one survivor of the accident which also claimed the lives of two other airmen.

Besides Pfc. Costa, those killed were 2nd Lt. Ray M. Holton, 21, of Alpharetta, Ga., and 2nd Lt. Harry Proddian, 24, of Los Angeles.

Survivor Used 'Chute

The lone survivor was Pfc. William G. Collier, 20, of South Webster, O., who "just went along for the ride." From his hospital bed in Miami, Fla., today he told how he was blown clear by an explosion when the planes collided at 4,000 feet.

Ironically, the Salem airman was due home this weekend on furlough along with Don Abrams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Abrams of the Benton Rd. Don, who arrived home last night, was in the air at the same time that Pfc. Costa was aloft, but Abrams' plan had taken off in a northerly direction.

"I was thrown out with the seat," Collier told newsmen. "I then pulled the parachute ripcord. It was the first time I had ever parachuted."

Collier said he landed in water up to his knees, "took my gear and parachute off and inflated the raft. I looked for the planes but couldn't see them. I did not see any other chutes."

Cause of the crash has not been determined, although 3rd Marine Wing Commander Brig. Gen. William G. Manley said, "We believe the lead plane may have made a sudden turn during instrument flying."

Collier said the planes took off at 1:30 p. m. EST and "just before the crash the clock on the instrument panel read 1440 (2:40 p. m.)."

The collision was west of Homestead in a remote area about halfway across the extreme lower part of the Florida peninsula.

One plane exploded, scattering debris over a wide area. The other crashed and burned.

One body was found in the burned plane, another near the wreck-

Ohio To Be Target For 'Atomic Attacks'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio will be the target for two mock atomic attacks June 14.

It's all part of a civil defense international test exercise June 14-15 throughout the United States and its territories, known as "Operation Alert."

The test on civil defense operational procedures at the local, county, area and state level will be a stern one.

Ohio Adj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber announced the mythical assaults yesterday. He said Ohio would be the target for a mock enemy group of 45 planes that will simulate a devastating air attack—complete with A-bombs, high explosive and incendiary bombs, chemical and biological agents and sabotage.

The first assault would occur at Cincinnati at 11:12 a. m. EST and at Cleveland at 12:45 p. m. EST. The second would follow at 2:32 p. m. EST in Dayton, Youngstown, Steubenville, Toledo, Akron Canton, Ironton, Hamilton, Middletown, Elyria, Lorain, Springfield and Lima.

Kreber said local groups, state mobile support organizations, state workers and other organizations such as the state highway patrol, highway department and the military from state and federal levels will take part.

Drive-in Church Services Set

Series Scheduled To Begin July 4

Drive-in church services, which proved popular here last year, will be sponsored during July and August by cooperating churches of Salem and vicinity. The meeting time will be earlier than most regularly scheduled church services in the community, and will take place at the Salem Drive-In Theater.

Tentative plans have been outlined for the possible nine-Sunday series beginning Sunday, July 4. Rev. A. Laten Carter, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will begin the series.

Speaking Sunday, July 11, will be Rev. C. Clare Davis, Methodist minister; July 18, Rev. R. J. Hunter of the Baptist Church, and July 25, Rev. Harold Deitch, new pastor at the First Christian Church. Music will be planned for each Sunday of the series.

Presbyterian

"Confusion or Confession" will be the sermon topic for Sunday at the 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. services in the First Presbyterian Church. Sacrament of infant baptism will be observed at both services, and members will be received at the second service.

The Carol Choir will sing, "Thou Art With Us" during the first service and the Chancel Choir, Westminster Chorus and Haviland Choir will sing "Psalm 150" at the second service.

Notices for the Messenger must be in the office by Monday at 4 p.m.

Children's Day exercises for the primary department will be held in Fellowship Hall during the church school hour Sunday. Parents and friends are invited.

Following the second worship service Sunday, new members and High School graduates will be honored at a reception at 11:45 in the Fellowship Hall.

Young Couples Fellowship will meet Sunday at 7:45 p.m.

Monday through Saturday, morning devotions in the Upper Room Chapel take place at 8:45.

Vacation church school, which will get underway June 21 and continue through July 2, will be discussed at a staff meeting Monday at 10 a.m.

Westminster Fellowship Council will meet Monday at noon.

Bible Words to Live by

LUKE 22:31-32 — "Simon, Simon, behold, Satan asked to have you, that he might sift you as wheat; but I have made supplication for thee, that thy faith fail not; ..." (ASV)

In the pantry of our home is a gadget used frequently by my wife. It is called a sifter. She uses it to separate the undesirable elements from the good flour. Because of the sifting, flour is able to make much better bread than otherwise.

It is thrilling to me to know that because of the sifting Peter was to become a much finer disciple of the Lord. It is even more encouraging to know that Jesus is praying for us and that through Him we may be sure of overcoming our difficulties. The events which often distress us are but the sifting through which Jesus is guiding to make us nobler persons.

Dr. Richard L. James
Riverside Avenue Christian Church
Jacksonville, Fla.

Open house for youth of the church is planned for Monday.

The session will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. and the trustees at the same hour.

Mahoning Presbytery will meet Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in the Salem Church. Dinner will be served.

Junior High Westminster Fellowship will meet Tuesday at 7:15 p.m.

The January Group of the Women's Association will have a coverdinner dinner Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the Country Club.

Members of February committee will have a dessert luncheon Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. A. Laten Carter at 1009 E. 6th St.

Haviland Choir will practice on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Junior church committee will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Princeton Seminary Choir, of which William Weber is a member, will sing Sunday, June 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Youngstown Westminster Church, following a vesper service in the Poland Church.

The June meeting of the Women's Association will take place Wednesday, June 23.

Westminster Fellowship Council will meet during church school Sunday.

How To Pray About A Problem

Ben Lucian Burman, the novelist, tells about a hill country preacher who discovered a wonderful description of the power of prayer. This preacher walked out of his church and found one of his congregation standing with his arm thrust up in the air holding a ball of string.

"What are you doing there, Brother?" he asked curiously.

"Flying a kite," the man answered.

The preacher looked up at the blue, clear sky. "I can't see any kite," he said.

"Neither can I," the man told him, "but I sure can feel it tugging."

MANY PEOPLE seem to feel prayer tugging these days. An old friend of mine in the South wrote me not long ago, "This is the prayingest generation that ever lived in this country."

My own experience bears him out. We are undoubtedly having a real spiritual renewal, the greatest resurgence of religion in a century. And it is marked particularly by the universality of prayer. From the President in the White House and the members of Congress in our Capitol down to the least of us, people everywhere are praying. Not all of them go to church, but they pray nevertheless — and more and more of them are going to church every Sunday.

With all this interest in prayer, one of the questions most frequently asked of me is, "How do I pray in such a way that it will bring a solution to my problems?"

FIRST OF ALL, pray with confidence that God will guide you about what to do and how to do it. Abraham Lincoln's simple trust in prayer, constantly demonstrated in his own life, reflected such a belief. A reason many are ineffective in prayer is because of a lack of simple trust in God's guidance. Pray for specific guidance about specific problems and you will get it.

Second, be willing to wait for an answer. After having asked for help, let go the matter; leave it up to God. Successful prayer is based on how much faith you have. "According to your faith, be it unto you." So do not worry or be anxious or doubting, for such mental attitudes indicate a shortage of faith. Believe that the right answer will come. Practice patience and faith.

Third, do not be afraid to ask big. A man I knew years ago and who was a great expert in prayer taught me his formula, "Think big, believe big, pray big." Some prayers are so little that God knows we do not mean them, and He only answers prayers that we mean. Of course, He will turn us down sometimes. I have prayed for lots of things to which He has said, "No," but that did not destroy my faith. The great Indian poet, Tagore, wrote, "I have often been saved by His hard refusals." Sometimes our prayers should be refused and it is to our advantage to receive a "No" answer. But always remember there is nothing for which we are not entitled to ask if we do so with sincerity.

FINALLY, I think our prayers must not take the form of asking for things, or even of giving thanks for blessings received. An even higher prayer level is to ask God to give Himself to us. What I mean by this is illustrated by the story of a young man who was having a great deal of trouble and was trying to pray his way out of it. But he did not seem to get an answer. One day he prayed simply, "Dear Lord, be with me." Almost immediately he felt a sense of inner peace. His mind became calm, and as a result he began to produce ideas, one of which was the solution to his problem.

Keep the basic principles in mind when you offer your own prayers and I am certain you will get right results.

IT TAKES PRACTICE

What a dilemma! Johnny should sit here and practice his piano lesson for the next hour. But there are so many things he would prefer doing . . . Of course he'd like to be able to play well. Who wouldn't?

So many of us are like Johnny. We'd like to be able to accomplish something, but we aren't willing to spend the necessary time and effort.

The same holds true in the practice of our Christian religion. How can we hope to understand the will of God without reading His Word or without supporting His Church?

In order to live the richest life, we must devote our time and talent to God's work. We will learn to direct our efforts where they will accomplish most if we will study His Word and worship in His House.

Communism In The New World

A major concern of the U.S. delegation to the Inter-American Conference at Caracas last February was infiltration of Communist conspirators in the New World.

The problem was made difficult by the knowledge the conspirators would not be identified as the agents of any foreign government. They would appear to be homegrown. This would make it impossible to pin the label of any Old World nationality on them.

The Charter of the Organization of American States adopted in 1948 had laid down this policy of mutual protection for the American republics:

"To adopt within their respective territories and in accordance with their respective constitutional provision, the measures necessary to eradicate and prevent activities directed, assisted, or instigated by foreign governments, or organizations, or individuals tending to overthrow their institutions by violence, to foment disorder in their domestic political life, or to disturb, by means of pressure, subversive propaganda, threats or by any other means, the free and sovereign rights of their peoples to govern themselves in accordance with their democratic aspirations."

This charter took over a mutual assistance pledge from the Inter-American Treaty of reciprocal Assistance signed at Rio de Janeiro in 1947. This mutual assistance pledge, moreover, was a permanent version of a mutual assistance arrangement in the temporary Act of Chapultepec adopted at Mexico City in 1945.

This had specified that "every act of aggression by a state against the territorial integrity or the inviolability of the territory or against the sovereignty or political independence of an American state shall be considered an act of aggression against the other American states." anti-Communist resolution was adopted, to strengthen the mutual protection agreement. Guatemala opposed it and Argentina and Mexico did not vote. Its main provision was:

"Domination or control of the political institution at the Caracas conference last February, an tutations of any American state by the international Communist movement (constitutes) a threat to the sovereignty and political independence of the American states (which would) call for consultation and appropriate action in accordance with existing treaties."

These are the means by which the New has tried to protect itself against a frontal assault by international Communism — the means which may have to be brought to bear for what they are worth if the threat in Guatemala continues to grow.

Stunt Driving

The joke about the professional auto racer who chokes up at the thought of driving on a public highway is only moderately funny in the light of a highway death toll of approximately 355 last weekend.

Drivers in the Indianapolis Speedway race would avoid the chances taken thoughtlessly by hundreds of thousands of motorists who filled the highways from last Friday to Monday.

It is interesting in this connection to note what has been happening to the speed of automobiles. Not until 1933 did the specially-designed racing cars at Indianapolis with trained racing drivers at the controls average more than 100 miles an hour. Only on two occasions before 1933 had any professional driver reached an average of better than 100 miles.

From 1911, when the Indianapolis Speedway was opened, until late in the twenties, average speeds were only slightly higher than those now considered commonplace by amateur drivers "opening 'er up" on a straight stretch of public highway.

The average speed in the 1954 Indianapolis race—130.840 miles—is phenomenally high for a curved track. It is unlikely anyone will exceed it at Indianapolis. But it was a stunt Bill Vukovich, the driver who did it, would be risking his life just as recklessly if he drove 65 miles an hour on a public highway, with its greater hazards.

Human Side Of The News

When the forces of civilized endeavor regrouped in offices, factories, shops, work crews and classrooms after the Memorial Day weekend, they had one thing in common.

All were sunburned. The human side of the news after one of the sunniest holiday weekends in memory was redder than the record of a Communist informer.

Myriads of seeds had been planted by pale people unaccustomed to actinic rays. Myriads of fish had been caught, holes of golf played, hot dogs consumed in ball parks and screens painted and lawns mowed.

Everybody had been in the sun. Summer had been ushered in officially in a ritual long since traditional in the states that celebrate Memorial Day—the first overt worship of the sun. Three months from now, sun worship will come to an unofficial close on Labor Day.

Meanwhile, be careful whose back you slap.

Alert To Danger

British Press Reminds Readers Of Red Menace

LONDON Whatever impression the outside world may have gotten heretofore that the British are unaware of the dangers of a policy of vacillation with respect to the Geneva Conference can certainly be erased now as unrealistic. The latest comments from the London press indicate the exact opposite.

"The London Daily Telegraph," which is one of the leading newspapers supporting the Conservatives — the party which is today in power in the government — is calling for a firm statement of policy and is warning the Communists a revision of her policy of waiting for the Geneva Conference to adjourn before making any new commitments. Presumably this means joining the Southeast Asia Security Pact, "The Telegraph" had this to say the other day:

"At Geneva the negotiators are now getting nearer to grips. Discussions are at last to be held on the practical details of arranging an armistice and regrouping the rival forces in Indochina. That Geneva has got this far is in a sense a triumph for Mr. Eden. It is certain, too, that all his qualifications as honest broker will be tested to the full by the trying negotiations which still lie ahead."

"IN THE FIRST place, it is far from evident that Communist readiness to talk about an armistice betrays any desire for an armistice, still less any readiness to make sacrifices (such as Laos and Cambodia, for instance) to reach one. Even supposing that they do desire an armistice, there is still the question of who is to supervise it, who to guarantee it. By what means, moreover, are we to prevent Viet Minh from stealing by subtlety what they have not already seized by force?"

"It must also be recognized that the indefinite protraction of the negotiations without any settlement being reached would be a triumph not for us but for the Communists. Such an indefinite continuance of the talks would make it necessary to consider a revision of the present British policy of refusing to enter into any commitments until the conference has ended. There is an obvious temptation to the Communists to try and keep us indefinitely at Geneva, dangling the prospect of a settlement before us like a carrot, while Indochina is simultaneously settled by force."

"Unless the United States is assured of British support, she may hesitate to commit herself further in Indochina; without further American commitment, France is unlikely to send substantial reinforcements to what many Frenchmen regard as a sinking ship, and may settle for such terms — if any — as she can get. We should, therefore, make it plain at Geneva that, while our desire for a peaceful settlement remains as strong as ever, unless one is reached within a reasonable time we shall have to join our allies in seeking other ways of stabilizing the situation."

"IN THIS WAY we could do much to bridge the gap which has opened between American policy and our own in the Far East. It is true that there is no rift between what our two peoples desire. Both long for peace, both are reluctant to commit themselves to a new Korea, both probably sympathize with Mr. Eden's sincere efforts at Geneva. Nor is the rift of policy between those who think a third world war inevitable and those who do not; we disagree solely on the method of avoiding it."

"In essence, the American view is that by taking a calculated risk now we shall avoid the necessity of taking far graver risks later; we think it best to try negotiation to the full. Both views can be cogently defended, and time may reconcile them. In the meantime, it would be disastrous if our great alliance were damaged by mutual suspicions. No doubt the Communists will do their utmost in this phase of the negotiations to drive a wedge between ourselves and the Americans; it is a danger against which we should be on guard."

"So far from endangering the prospects of a settlement, the firm statement of our policy could only enhance them."

"ONE MUST suppose that there are in the Kremlin — perhaps even in Peking — men who for various reasons are appalled by the prospect of a third world war. If that be so, we must be careful not to undermine their position by undue weakness. If we are firm, they will be able to restrain the hotheads in Indochina and elsewhere by pointing to the terrible risks they are running. How are they to restrain anyone, however, if we remain divided and impotent while Viet Minh scores success after success?"

"The best way of testing Communist intentions is by clarifying our own. Theirs are not inflexible in detail; they depend to a great extent on ours. There would be no greater mistake for the Communists than to imagine that whatever happens we intend to do nothing."

Housing Bill Protest

By DAVID BARNETT

WASHINGTON The country's realtors have warned senators that the anti-profit housing provisions of the housing bill have made it an "anti-rental housing bill."

In private letters to key senators, John C. Williamson, secretary-counsel of the realtors Washington Committee, National Association of Real Estate Boards, called the provisions designed to end abuse "so harsh . . . that there is serious question whether the Federal Housing Administration system can continue to assist in the construction of actual housing." Debate on the big housing bill has already begun in the Senate.

It had been passed previously by the House, but the bill reported to the floor of the Senate by the Banking and Currency Committee differs considerably from the House version.

As a result of the FHA scandals, several provisions of the bill have been tightened up in an attempt to prevent builders from reaping the "windfalls" they got from oversized government loans on apartment projects. The builders had pocketed the difference between the actual cost of the projects and the amount of the government-insured loans. This was known as "mortgaging out."

The bill now before the Senate takes this approach to prevent "windfalls":

So They Say

The downward setting process has pretty well been slowed to a stop. We can look ahead to going forward again.

—Ike's economic assistant Gabriel Hauge.

In Italy, public order is maintained not so much by legal force as by the prudence of the Communists.

—Luigi Barzini, Italian writer. As was anticipated by Prof. (Albert) Einstein some years ago, the development of the hydrogen and cobalt bomb has brought the extermination of human life on earth within the range of technical possibility.

—Physicist C. F. Powell. Whenever the United Nations, especially the United States, is in need of our boys in defending the course of democracy anywhere in Asia, our boys and our officers will be happy to be of service.

—South Korean President Syngman Rhee.

All things are now ready for the second coming of Christ, and we must now live in a state of constant expectancy — ready and watching for the event — Adventist President William H. Branson.

An FHA-insured loan can be obtained for 80 per cent of the estimated cost of the rental project. If the actual cost is below the estimate, the builder must return the difference between what he originally got and 80 per cent of the actual cost of the project.

In defining the actual cost, the bill includes a 10 per cent profit for the builder.

The realtors urged adoption of a provision now applicable to defense housing. This requires the builder to return the difference between what he got as a loan and 100 per cent of the actual cost of the project.

Some senators have complained that such a provision means "private profit at public risk," in that a builder who got a high estimate for an FHA loan could operate entirely on government — insured money without risking any of his own capital.

The letter says the FHA recommended to the committee the provision now in the bill "in an unmerited mood of self-chastisement" because of the scandals. It said the provision penalized the efficient builder.

Morse's Political Future

By JAY G. HAYDEN

One aftermath of the surprising sweep by pro-Eisenhower Republicans in the recent Oregon primary is a logical if belated explanation by Sen. Morse as to why he first turned against Eisenhower and then bolted the Republican party outright in 1952.

In an interview, published in the Portland Oregonian May 25, Morse said:

"I didn't pick this fight with the Republicans. They started it in a meeting at Salem when the Oregon delegation voted to keep me off national convention committees. They didn't want me on the floor fighting for liberal Republican principles."

In Oregon, national convention delegates are picked by popular vote and pledged to support the winner in a presidential preference contest staged at the same time. Eisenhower won the latter overwhelmingly and in the choice of eight delegates at large Gov. McKay (now secretary of the interior) ran first and Morse second.

Before the delegates caucused it was generally forecast that McKay would be named chairman of the group and Morse assigned to the platform committee.

THE RELEGATION, meeting together for the first time in the state capital at Salem, developed ideas of its own. McKay was named chairman, while Morse was refused the platform committee spot with all but five of the group voting against him.

Morse was not present at this Salem meeting; nor did he at the moment display resentment concerning it. At Chicago he continued ardently pro-Eisenhower and as late as August 19, a month after the nomination, Morse declared his support of Eisenhower, although he said he and the candidate "disagree on certain specific issues."

On September 13 Morse withdrew a promise to campaign for Eisenhower, giving as his main reason that the nominee had "sur-rendered at Morningside Heights" to Sen. Taft.

At that time Oregon political reporters attributed Morse's bolt to the slight he had suffered at the hands of his fellow state delegates. But Morse until last week never had admitted that his defection began with the Salem vote against him.

The reason why the delegation refused to put Morse on the platform committee is not hard to discern. Ever since he came to the Senate he has been voting more often with Democrats than Republicans.

JUST AS THE Oregon Republican delegates were meeting, Morse was leading the van in support of President Truman's seizure of steel plants in an effort to force a wage increase. Morse was one of only three Republicans (Ives of New York and Tobey of New Hampshire were the others) who voted to support the Truman seizure. Democrats divided on that issue, 29 for and 16 against.

The Oregon Republican leaders simply were fed up with Morse's persistent New Dealism. And Morse on his side may have construed the delegation vote as notice that his game of running under the Republican label while voting Democratic in the Senate was running out.

The point it is intended to emphasize is that the rise or fall of political officeholders usually hinges not so much on issues of high principle as on the play of conflicting personal reactions in their home states.

In 1952 all hands in Oregon equally recognized the popularity of Eisenhower. Old Guard Republicans of that mind were in no mood to permit Morse to grab credit for an Eisenhower victory.

Looking back over the years, changing sides at election time rarely has proved popular in the long run. The La Follette in Wisconsin and Norris in Nebraska jumped back and forth for a while with great success.

IN THE FINAL analysis, both Norris and young Bob La Follette fell in attempts to climb back on the Republican bandwagon after deserting it in support of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Similarly, the late Sen. Couzens of Michigan was beaten for renomination in 1936 after renouncing the Republican presidential nominee, Alf M. Landon, and declaring for Roosevelt. In that case Roosevelt won the state in the succeeding election and carried with him a Democratic senator.

Sen. Ball of Minnesota invited his Waterloo by declaring against Dewey and for Roosevelt in 1944. Ball squeaked through for renomination but lost to Democrat Humphrey in the final showdown because a large number of Republicans preferred not to vote at all rather than support either a Democrat or a Republican deserter.

Any way you look at it, Morse's political future looks bleak. Up for re-election in 1956, he definitely has written off any chance he might otherwise have had for Republican renomination.

While Morse at the moment is supporting Democratic nominees, there is little indication that members of that party in his home state are prepared to adopt him to the extent of handing him their senatorial nomination.

Take Your Positions

By TRUMAN TWILL

There is a great hooraw about the lying-down position of the pilot in the Navy's newest freak airplane—an experimental thing that goes up and down like a helicopter can straighten out and go like a bat out of hell.

The pilot just stretches out and lets 'er rip.

There always is a great hooraw whenever someone takes a new position for doing something that everybody else does like everybody else. If a writing fellow, for instance, prefers to sit on the back of his neck, or maybe spend half his working day in bed, someone is sure to remark about it.

Busybodies are clucking and cackling over automobile drivers who either put their right arms on the back of the front seat to prove they have automatic shifts or hang on to the door frame with their left hands to prove they are playing it cool. A few years ago they were clucking and cackling when the more enterprising young male motorists learned to shift gears with their right knee.

Once it was considered compulsory for clerks to stand up all day at high desks, presumably on the assumption that if they were inclined to be sleepy this would keep them awake. When it was suggested they might sit down and work just as well, the idea was revolutionary. Now, incidentally, it is being suggested they should be allowed to stand up and work if they feel like it, and this will be considered revolutionary too.

In sports, where form is supposed to be everything, every player with a new stance or a new style is pointed out like a two-headed baby, unless his peculiarity pays off. In that case, it is adopted by a lot of other people and becomes good form until some other freak comes along.

Chairs used to be made straight up and down, with inopitabile upholstery and uncomfortable lumps and bulges. Nothing about them suggested they were suitable for human occupancy. Humans occupied them at their own risk.

Designers then went to the opposite extreme and began to make chairs as if their occupants were basket cases and devoid of ordinary requirements. The vogue caught on and automobile designers did the same thing. The idea now has spread to airplanes.

It should spread to some other places. Television screens should be on ceilings. So should moving picture screens in movie houses. There are improvements to be made in seating arrangements for restaurants — improvements made by the Romans centuries ago and since forgotten. The Romans lay down to eat, so they could eat more.

Some of us who must toil for a living could do the whole thing better if permitted to lie down too. This has great possibilities if cluckers and cacklers will quit badgering it and try to see its good points.

Bert Wheeler the comedian used to lie down on the stage and deliver his monolog; he was a success. Mohandas Gandhi made himself a world-famous figure with his advocacy of lying down and refusing to budge whenever the British began to shove him around.

Where did the idea come from anyway that everybody had to sit up straight and pay attention? Who ever said so besides school teachers?

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

It Happens To Everyone

We stopped in the office-building drugstore for a cup of java before going to the office. "I ask you now—and I want your best answer—may I have a cup of coffee?" we said. "Will you repeat the question," the attendant said. We did so. "Sugar and cream?" asked the attendant. "It is not quite that simple," we replied. "I'll break it down for you . . . just one sugar and a very little cream, sir."

We got into the elevator. "A nice morning," said the operator. In my opinion, and subject to certain qualifications, I will go along with that," we said. Arriving at the office, we noticed Miss Snoggins, our stenographer, was not there, and we made a memorandum. Presently Miss Snoggins arrived. "There was a bus tie-up," she volunteered. "You have not been asked any question yet. Will you now give your name and background?" we asked.

"You know my name and all about me. I've been here for years," said Miss Snoggins.

"If you want to let that answer stand, it is okay but I shall go into it on cross-examination only. I am playing a dual role with respect to you," we explained.

"You're telling me," exclaimed Miss Snoggins.

"I will now put the question to you directly. . . and you realize the purpose of this . . . why are you late to work?" She repeated there had been a bus tie-up. "On how many other occasions, if any, have you figured in bus tie-ups of any type, nature or description?" we demanded.

Our phone rang. It was somebody asking if we were Feinburg's delicatessen store. "Sir, we snapped, "you have, if I understand it correctly, the wrong number. I am not Feinburg's delicatessen store and any matter relating to your search for delicatessen products is immaterial and will be excluded from today's proceedings."

The day went on with considerable trouble of this sort. Upon its conclusion we stopped into a cafe for a cocktail before taking the 5-47 home.

The place was crowded and we appealed to our favorite bartender. "Eddie," we said, could you let me have a fast one so I can catch my train, without any inference that I am asking for preferential treatment?"

"I regard this as a form of pressure," said the bartender, "but if you will limit your request to a simple request for a drink, omitting your reasons for desiring it with speed, I will comply."

We got the drink and in leaving, bumped against a customer coming in. "Where the—do you think you're going?" he demanded. As the cocktail had been a pretty strong one, we could only answer, "I have no clear recollection," and went on.

We reached the train gate to find the train gone. "What's happened?" we asked. "On information and belief I can say the schedule was suddenly changed," the gateman said. "I ask you for the names of the higher-ups who are responsible for the change of schedule without notice," we said. The trainman flashed a letter. It was a directive barring any discussion of the matter.

Getting home, we took four aspirin, went to bed at once, pulled the sheets over us and fastened them down with safety pins. We were determined on a long and uninterrupted recess.

Madison Square Garden, N.Y., was recently jammed at $6 a throw for a concert by Liberace, who performed in a white suit. His act fell somewhere between the horse show and the ice carnival and proved a distinct threat to wrestling. It just goes to show how high a pianist can get if he doesn't concentrate on being a pianist.

McCarthy

ation officials outside the Army had a hand in the case, said in a speech at Williamstown, Conn., last night that "there are many more important things" to attract the attention of the American people than "those congressional hearings." He refused comment as to which of the two battling groups he sympathized with.

With the hearings in recess until Monday, several more of the phone calls between Stevens and subcommittee members and the McCarthy camp principals remained to go into the public records. The calls were originally taken down in shorthand by Stevens' secretarial staff.

Still to come are the calls of Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), and of McCarthy and his aides—and all were promised when the proceedings started again before the TV cameras Monday.

The six-week-old hearings came to an explosive climax yesterday in fast-breaking developments over Army charges that McCarthy and his staff sought preferential treatment for Schine after he entered the Army, and McCarthy counter-charges that the Army used Schine as a "hostage" to halt investigation of communism in Army installations. McCarthy has stepped off the inquiry group while it looks into the row.

In quick order:
1. Subcommittee senators voluntarily placed transcripts of their monitored conversations with Stevens into the hearing record.

2. McCarthy demanded that Symington remove himself as a "judge" in the inquiry and step aside from the group because of his "secret" alignment with Stevens.

3. Symington told reporters he had "not the slightest intention" of disqualifying himself, asserting "there's nothing defensive about me." He challenged McCarthy to take the issue to the Senate floor.

4. Roy M. Cohn, a principal in the hearings and chief counsel of the McCarthy subcommittee, reversed his previous stand against releasing his calls until the Army put its calls within the executive branch into the record, too.

Street Paving Discussed By Village Council

LEETONIA—When village council met Wednesday evening, Mayor Paul Sevenich reported on a survey completed on all unpaved streets. Three types of paving costs have been secured.

The following men have been appointed by Mayor Sevenich to act as agent for each named street, and to convey all the information to the property owners.

E. Main St., Dr. Paul Conrad; High, Homer Gilmore; Pine, Frank Guido; Spruce, Thomas Cope; Ridge, Mike Sullivan; Waddell, Jack Ripley; Summit, Felix Perry; Elm, Jack Woods; Chestnut, Bill Navojosky;

Mill, Fred Spaholt; Washington, Dominic Dattilio; Hazel, Fred Galley; Madison, Cecil Crothers; Cherry, Charles Couchie; Anglemeyer, Mrs. Howard Keyser; Stoy, Clarence Lamoucha.

Mayor Sevenich reported that he and A. F. Butch of Youngstown met with a Cleveland industrialist Saturday, who will come to Leetonia next week to look over the possibilities of locating here.

The solicitor is getting necessary zoning ordinances ready for the next council meeting.

L. J. Slack of the Erie Railroad Industrial Development department at Cleveland will meet with Mayor Sevenich and Mr. A. F. Butch, Friday.

KINDERGARTEN Mothers Club tea for members and prospective members was held Wednesday evening in the kindergarten room at the South Side school. Kindergarten teachers, Mrs. Passage and Mrs. Painter were present to explain to the new members what is done at the kindergarten sessions.

During the business session, members voted to change the meeting night to the second Tuesday of each month, effective the first meeting of the new school year in September. Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. Harold Cleckner; vice president, Mrs. John Davis; secretary, Mrs. Robert Weikart and treasurer, Mrs. Alfred Lee.

INITIAL STEPS were taken Tuesday evening to organize a Band Mothers Club in connection with the band programs in the local schools.

Thirty-eight mothers gathered at the High School to hear Karl Meinhardt explain the summer band program and to tell what could be accomplished for the music programs in the local schools by organizing as such a club.

A committee of mothers present was appointed to draw up a set of by-laws for the new organization and name a slate of nominees for officers in the new group. This committee will not report until possibly September when the organization will be complete.

The committee is composed of Mrs. John Coppersmith, Mrs. Merle Reese, Mrs. Robert Bertolette, Mrs. B. Grove and Mrs. W. Senior.

Seek Release Of U.S. People In Red China

GENEVA (AP)—The United States opened direct negotiations with Red China today in an effort to obtain the release of an estimated 83 American civilians and military personnel detained in China.

The exact number of those involved was not known by the U.S. delegation at Geneva, but an official breakdown indicated 54 civilians and 29 military personnel were either under arrest or were refused visas to leave.

The beginning of the negotiations was announced by the U.S. delegation shortly after the first meeting was held.

This was announced by the U.S. delegation to the Geneva conference, shortly after the first talks were held. It was the first direct contact the United States had had with Red China at Geneva. The United States previously had refused to deal with the Peiping regime, which it does not recognize.

The U.S. representative at the talks was Alexis Johnson, American ambassador to Czechoslovakia. Later, a member of the American delegation said the meeting with the Red Chinese "does not involve recognition of any sort."

He explained that in the past the United States has always negotiated with its enemies on prisoners of war, "so why shouldn't we do it here?"

The negotiations also involve approximately 120 Chinese students who, it is understood, have been denied exit visas in the United States. Red China says the U.S. government is detaining them and that they want to go to Communist China.

Firemen Hold Lisbon Parade Before 3,000

LISBON—A chilly, autumn-like drizzle failed to discourage a crowd of 3,000 persons who lined village streets Friday night to watch a firemen's parade highlighting a three-day celebration which ends tonight.

The long procession of 75 pieces of firefighting equipment and marching units was headed by Queen Patty Phelps and her attendants Rachel Shattuck and Lou Ann Saling.

The East Liverpool fire department hook and ladder outfit, which won $50 for its participation, drew remarks of admiration as the flag was hoisted to the top of the 85-foot ladder.

East Palestine's fire truck won first prize of $50 for the best firefighting unit, outclassing about 50 other trucks.

The best township truck prize of $25 went to Mineral Ridge. Columbiana's entry was rated the best equipped truck and Champion had the best emergency truck.

A firefighting unit from New Athens was given $10 for traveling the longest distance, 66 miles.

Clad in red, white and blue, the Sylvestes, a baton twirling unit from Salem, won $25 for the best marching unit. Best drum and bugle corps award of $50 went to Jefferson County McCullough Children's Home.

Salineville High School band took top honors in the best band class and judges gave Brookfield Fire Department's ladies auxiliary a first rating.

Tax Plan

relief section. It would give a $20 tax credit to each taxpayer, who would be entitled to knock this amount off his payment each year.

It was rejected 10 to 4 with one committee member not voting. Republicans immediately speculated this was the Democratic substitute for the broader income tax relief plan previously sponsored by George and two fellow Democrats on the committee, Senators Kerr (Okla.) and Frear (Del.).

But George declined to confirm this. He said he still might offer the earlier proposal in the committee next week. This would cut income taxes $4,500,000,000 the first year by raising personal exemptions $200 and bring a $7,800,000,000 annual reduction starting in 1955 by a $400 exemption hike.

Estimates varied on the revenue loss from the $20 credit plan. George said it would be about $50 millions a year. Finance committee experts said their quick guess was at least $1,300,000,000.

The dividend income relief provision would lose 240 million in revenue in the first year, $14 million at full effect. The relief would work this way:

The first $50 of dividend income would be exempt from income tax in the first year, $100 annually after that.

In addition, the taxpayer could deduct directly from his tax 5 per cent of his dividend income above $50 in the first year and 10 per cent above $100 thereafter.

The administration has fought vigorously for this plan. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said it would encourage more private investment to build up the nation's industry and also would be a start toward ending double taxation of corporate earnings.

Some Democrats have assailed the dividend relief as a rich man's benefit.

'Family Night' Program Planned By Presbyterian Committees

Presbyterian "Family Night" on Friday, June 11, was discussed at the Wednesday meetings of members of committees of the Presbyterian Women's Association. The evening will begin with a coverdish supper at 6:30 p.m. with members of the June Committee, headed by Mrs. Rolin Haron and Mrs. Frank Ullom, in charge. Committees which met Wednesday are:

Birthday Party Set By Dorcas Society

A birthday party was planned for the September meeting when members of the Dorcas Society of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church held their regular monthly business meeting in the church Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Harry Woodworth, who presided, opened the meeting with scripture which was followed by a prayer by Mrs. George Keister. All women present took part in the devotional thoughts of the day.

It was decided to hold no meetings in July and August because of vacations.

Mrs. Henry Schultz resigned as secretary, and Mrs. Perry Hilliard Sr. was asked to replace her for the four remaining months in her term.

Members were pleasantly surprised by a visit from Mrs. Jesse Hoffer of Hollywood, Fla., who still retains her membership in the society. Mrs. Harry Hontz was welcomed as a new member.

A lunch was served by Mrs. Fred Oesch and Mrs. Edward Weingart. The meeting was closed with the Lord's Prayer.

Amity Lodge Plans Memorial Service

Amity Lodge of the I.O.O.F. met in regular session Thursday and planned a memorial service for members who have died in the past year.

Comments were made concerning the conferring of the third degree on a class of candidates in Warren last Tuesday.

A letter was received from the Grand Lodge of Ohio inviting all Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, and friends to Springfield Lodge, June 13, for the dedication of the new hospital unit that has been added to the Odd Fellows Home there.

Plans were discussed for a supper for members and their families to be held in the near future. Amity Lodge will meet again Thursday, June 10. Lunch will be served by Clemmer Greenisen and his committee following the business session.

'ROSE LUNCHEON' SET

Musial Ahead Of Ruth's 1929 Record Home Run Pace

Raps Out Two Homers Friday As Cards Beat Philadelphia 5-2

By BEN PHLEGAR

Stan Musial still denying he's aiming for the fences, has taken over the National League home run lead and is ahead of the record 1927 pace of the great Babe Ruth.

The two sluggers Musial passed last night when he hit his 16th and 17th homers — Hank Sauer of Chicago and Willie Mays of New York — are even with the schedule Ruth followed when he hit his 60 for the New York Yankees.

This is not to say anyone of the three will break the Babe's mark. Long ball hitters have been trying without success for 26 seasons.

Jimmy Fox in 1932 and Hank Greenberg in 1938 came the closest with 58. Hack Wilson set the National League record of 56 in 1930.

The main reason Ruth's record has remained unattainable was the Babe's tremendous spurt in September when he hit 17 in 26 games. It took him 47 games to get his first 17.

Musial reached 17 in 46 games. Sauer has 16 in 43, which conforms exactly to Ruth's pace, and Mays has 16 in 44.

Musial has said repeatedly he is not aiming for the home run title, much less Ruth's record.

"I'm just a singles hitter," the St. Louis Cardinal outfielder declared. "I thought I'd take a crack at the home run title in 1949. I was so bent on trying to hit homers I forgot how to hit singles and I was under .200 as late as June."

This season his home pace has done nothing but fatten Stan's batting average. His .380 leads the league.

The two homers last night were the big hits as the Cards beat Philadelphia 5-2, New York took over second place with a 10-6 triumph at Cincinnati while Milwaukee was bowing 4-1 to Pittsburgh. Brooklyn won its sixth straight, 2-1, over Chicago.

In the American League Cleveland lost its second in a row to the New York Yankees and Chicago climbed within seven percentage points of the first place Indians by beating Boston 7-3. Detroit edged Washington 3-2 and Philadelphia defeated Baltimore 7-6.

Two pitchers, one in each league, won their eighth games. Harvey Haddix of the Cardinals pitched his third straight complete game and ran his record to 8-3. Bob Keegan of the White Sox survived an 11-hit Boston attack for his eighth victory in nine decisions.

A three-run homer by Yogi Berra in the first inning off Early Wynn put the Yankees on the victory trail against Cleveland. It was Wynn who couldn't get anybody out Wednesday night when the Yankees scored seven times in the first inning in the first game of the Cleveland series. However, the Indians got Wynn off the hook that night, winning in 10 innings.

Roy Sievers turned from star to goat in the Washington loss. He drove in the two Senators tallies with a homer and two singles, then misplayed a simple two-out fly ball long enough for the winning run to score from first base in the eighth inning.

Ed McGhee drove in four runs as the Athletics temporarily won their battle with Baltimore to stay out of last place. The Orioles are now in the cellar by a game and a half.

Carl Erskine, Brooklyn's winningest pitcher last season, picked up his sixth triumph and the first of his career in Wrigley Field when Roy Campanella singled home Jackie Robinson in the sixth inning.

A called third strike in the fourth inning was the only black mark on a fine two-day batting performance by Al Dink of the Giants. The New York captain got four for four at St. Louis Thursday night and four out of five last night.

Max Surkont tormented his former Milwaukee teammates, giving them only six hits as they lost their fifth straight game.

Henry Cited In Fight 'Fix'

Offered Jones Bribe, New York DA Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—Clarence Henry, the one-time No. 3 contender for the heavyweight championship, was arraigned today on a bribery charge in the most bizarre boxing "fix" plot that has rocked New York in decades.

Henry was accused of offering $15,000 to Bobby Jones to throw his middleweight bout against Joey Giardello in Madison Square Garden June 11.

While experts wondered why Henry would try to fix the 2-1 underdog, the former title contender asserted his innocence.

"This is all a mistake," he said. "I went to see Bobby because I always see him when we're in town. We're friends. They had to get somebody and I was the chosen party."

He did not say who "they" were.

Just about everyone involved in the case was annoyed at someone with the possible exception of Jones, a fair fighter, but regarded as no match for the rugged Giardello.

Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan was irked because the story was broken before he was ready to move in. He said he had intended to try to round up the "whole mob" just before the fight.

But the first edition of yesterday's New York Journal-American appeared on the streets with an eight column headline on page one announcing:

"$5,000 bribe offered fighter to throw Garden main bout."

The story, signed by Bill Corum, did not mention Henry, but when it reached the newstands, Hogan and his men moved into action.

For his part, Giardello said he "ought to be insulted."

Before Henry made the $15,000 offer, Jones had received two other offers, each for $5,000 from strangers—one last Saturday and the other last Tuesday.

Jones' eastern representative, Bobby Melnick, then took the fighter to Harry Mark on of the International Boxing Club, who in turn sent the pair to State Athletic Commissioner Bob Christenberry. Christenberry called Hogan and the DA's detectives moved in.

Jones, a 28-year-old Oakland, Calif., fighter with five children, was told to continue training as usual pending developments.

Thursday morning they came, he received four calls at Gleason's Gymnasium from Philadelphia. One was from Henry.

Here is how it went:

Henry: "Bobby, I've got to see you as soon as possible about a very important business matter."

Jones: "I'll be in my hotel room at noon."

Henry: "Fine, but be sure you're alone. I'll be there."

Detectives covered Jones hotel and Henry appeared on schedule. Without preliminaries, Henry offered Jones $15,000 to throw the fight. The latter demurred, as instructed, commenting that he didn't think Henry could raise that much money.

"I'll go get a friend of mine and he will convince you my people are reliable," said Henry and he left.

Trailing by detectives, he met a man about a half block away from the hotel and engaged in "animated" conversation.

Henry was standing right in front of a newsstand prominently displaying the Journal-American's story. It was there Henry was nabbed, along with a man who gave him the name as Joseph Hacken, 34, of New York. Hacken was held in $25,000 bail as a material witness.

Yanks Defeat Indians 8-3

Bob Avila Faces 10-Day Suspension

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The sun that shone on the Cleveland Indians' pennant hopes two days ago is behind a cloud today—a cloud made up of two losses to the New York Yankees and the league's leading hitter, Bob Avila.

During the sixth inning of yesterday's 8-3 defeat by the world champions, Avila protested a called third strike and bumped into umpire Bill Grieve during the argument. He was ejected and Grieve said he would report the bumping to President Will Harridge of the American League.

A few weeks ago Harridge issued a bulletin saying 10-day suspension would be automatic for any player bumping an umpire. Al Lopez, Cleveland manager, defended the bumping as accidental. Grieve was walking away from the plate, turned suddenly and was struck by Avila's shoulder.

Loss of Avila at this time, with Al Rosen nursing a finger injury, could mean the Tribe will be nudged from the league lead it has held since May 16.

The remainder of the eastern trip is against second-division opponents, which may be one bright ray breaking through the cloud.

Today, Mike Garcia (5-4) hurled for the Indians against Philadelphia's Alex Kellner (2-5), and tomorrow there's a twin bill here with the Athletics, who have won only one of five games from Cleveland. The next stop is for night games Tuesday and Wednesday against Washington which hasn't beaten the Tribe in five tries.

A three-run homer by catcher Yogi Berra in the first inning put the Yankees in front to stay yesterday. Berra's eighth homer of the season followed a single by Phil Rizzuto and a walk to Mickey Mantle. It was belted off Early Wynn who gave up seven of the Yankees' 10 hits and five of their runs before he was lifted in the seventh for Ray Narleski.

Whitey Ford, posting his third victory against four losses, came within one out of finishing the ball game. He yielded the ribe only three scattered singles in the first five innings—by Avila, Larry Doby and Rudy Regalado.

Cleveland Polo Team Here Sunday

The Salem Polo Club, fully recovered from the setback it took from the crack Harbor Hills club last on Memorial Day, will face Cleveland in a game here Sunday.

The game will be played at the local club's spacious Ellsworth Road field at 3 p.m.

Cleveland holds two victories over Poland in this season which has just begun.

The Clevelanders' roster includes such players as Dick Knepper, Jimmy Barr, Herb Greene and a Texan new to Ohio, John Bryan. The latter rates three goals in national records.

For tomorrow's game Salem will ride Roy Bates, Harry Frick, Willie Smith and Jim Pidgeon.

In all this season the Salem Polo Club will play nine games here and eight on the road.

Salem Tool Winner Over Lisbon 4-2

Salem Tool defeated Lisbon 4-2 Friday evening in a softball tilt at Kelley Field under the worst playing conditions so far this year.

The local team jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning and scored its last tally in the fifth frame. Lisbon got its two runs in the third inning.

Salem Tool players got a total of six hits, while the losers connected for three hits. Each team committed three errors.

Rain, adding to the mud, mist and cold, forced postponement of the Deming-Paul & Joe contest in the top of the third inning, with Deming ahead 7-6.

Musial Ahead Of Ruth's 1929 Record Home Run Pace

Raps Out Two Homers Friday As Cards Beat Philadelphia 5-2

By BEN PHLEGAR
Stan Musial still denying he's aiming for the fences, has taken over the National League home run lead and is ahead of the record 1927 pace of the great Babe Ruth.

The two sluggers Musial passed last night when he hit his 16th and 17th homers—Hank Sauer of Chicago and Willie Mays of New York—are even with the schedule Ruth followed when he hit his 60 for the New York Yankees.

This is not to say anyone of the three will break the Babe's mark. Long ball hitters have been trying without success for 26 seasons.

Jimmy Fox in 1932 and Hank Greenberg in 1938 came the closest with 58. Hack Wilson set the National League record of 56 in 1930.

The main reason Ruth's record has remained unattainable was the Babe's tremendous spurt in September when he hit 17 in 26 games. It took him 47 games to get his first 17.

Musial reached 17 in 46 games. Sauer has 16 in 43, which conforms exactly to Ruth's pace, and Mays has 16 in 44.

Musial has said repeatedly he is not aiming for the home run title, much less Ruth's record.

"I'm just a singles hitter," the St. Louis Cardinal outfielder declared. "I thought I'd take a crack at the home run title in 1949. I was so bent on trying to hit homers I forgot how to hit singles and I was under .200 as late as June."

This season his homer pace has done nothing but fatten Stan's batting average. His .380 leads the league.

The two homers last night were the big hits as the Cards beat Philadelphia 5-2. New York took over second place with a 10-6 triumph at Cincinnati while Milwaukee was bowing 4-1 to Pittsburgh. Brooklyn won its sixth straight, 2-1, over Chicago.

In the American League Cleveland lost its second in a row to the New York Yankees and Chicago climbed within seven percentage points of the first place Indians by beating Boston 7-3. Detroit edged Washington 3-2 and Philadelphia defeated Baltimore 7-6.

Two pitchers, one in each league, won their eighth game. Harvey Haddix of the Cardinals pitched his third straight complete game and ran his record to 8-3. Bob Keegan of the White Sox survived an 11-hit Boston attack for his eighth victory in nine decisions.

A three-run homer by Yogi Berra in the first inning off Early Wynn put the Yankees on the victory trail against Cleveland. It was Wynn who couldn't get anybody out Wednesday night when the Yankees scored seven times in the first inning in the first game of the Cleveland series. However, the Indians got Wynn off the hook that night, winning in 10 innings.

Roy Sievers turned from star to goat in the Washington loss. He drove in the two Senator tallies with a homer and two singles, then misplayed a simple two-out fly ball long enough for the winning run to score from first base in the eighth inning.

Ed McGhee drove in four runs as the Athletics temporarily won their battle with Baltimore to stay out of last place. The Orioles are now in the cellar by a game and a half.

Carl Erskine, Brooklyn's winningest pitcher last season, picked up his sixth triumph and the first of his career in Wrigley Field when Roy Campanella singled home Jackie Robinson in the sixth inning.

A called third strike in the fourth inning was the only black mark on a fine two-day batting performance by Al Dik of the Giants. The New York captain got four for four at St. Louis Thursday night and four out of five last night.

Max Surkont tormented his former Milwaukee teammates, giving them only six hits as they lost their fifth straight game.

Trilled by detectives, he met a man about a half block away from the hotel and engaged in "animated" conversation.

Henry was standing right in front of a newsstand prominently displaying the Journal-American's story. It was then Henry was nabbed, along with a man who gave him the name as Joseph Hacken, 34, of New York. Hacken was held in $25,000 bail as a material witness.

Henry: "Bobby, I've got to see you as soon as possible about a very important business matter."

Jones: "I'll be in my hotel room at noon."

Henry: "Fine, but be sure you're alone. I'll be there."

Detectives covered Jones hotel and Henry appeared on schedule. Without preliminaries, Henry offered Jones $15,000 to throw the fight. The latter demurred, as instructed, commenting that he didn't think Henry could raise that much money.

"I'll go get a friend of mine and he will convince you my people are reliable," said Henry and he left.

Yanks Defeat Indians 8-3

Bob Avila Faces 10-Day Suspension

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The sun that shone on the Cleveland Indians' pennant hopes two days ago is behind a cloud today—a cloud made up of two losses to the New York Yankees and the possible loss for 10 days of the league's leading hitter, Bob Avila.

During the sixth inning of yesterday's 8-3 defeat by the world champions, Avila protested a called third strike and bumped into umpire Bill Grieve during the argument. He was ejected and Grieve said he would report the bumping to President Will Harridge of the American League.

A few weeks ago Harridge issued a bulletin saying 10-day suspension would be automatic for any player bumping an umpire. Al Lopez, Cleveland manager, defended the bumping as accidental. Grieve was walking away from the plate, turned suddenly and was struck by Avila's shoulder.

Loss of Avila at this time, with Al Rosen nursing a finger injury, could mean the Tribe will be nudged from the league lead it has held since May 16.

The remainder of the eastern trip is against second-division opponents, which may be one bright ray breaking through the cloud.

Today, Mike Garcia (5-4) hurls for the Indians against Philadelphia's Alex Kellner (2-5), and tomorrow there's a twin bill here with the Athletics, who have won only one of five games from Cleveland. The next stop is for night games Tuesday and Wednesday against Washington which hasn't beaten the Tribe in five tries.

A three-run homer by catcher Yogi Berra in the first inning put the Yankees in front to stay yesterday. Berra's eighth homer of the season followed a single by Phil Rizzuto and a walk to Mickey Mantle. It was belted off Early Wynn who gave up seven of the Yankees' 10 hits and five of their runs before he was lifted in the seventh for Ray Narleski.

Whitey Ford, posting his third victory against four losses, came within one out of finishing the ball game. He yielded the ribe only three scattered singles in the first five innings—by Avila, Larry Doby and Rudy Regalado.

Salem Tool Winner Over Lisbon 4-2

Salem Tool defeated Lisbon 4-2 Friday evening in a softball tilt at Kelley Field under the worst playing conditions so far this year.

The local team jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning and scored its last tally in the fifth frame. Lisbon got its two runs in the third inning.

Salem Tool players got a total of six hits, while the losers connected for three hits. Each team committed three errors.

Rain, adding to the mud, mist and cold, forced postponement of the Deming-Paul & Joe contest in the top of the third inning, with Deming ahead 7-6.

Biagetti Leads Western Open Golf Tourney

By HAROLD HARISON
CINCINNATI (AP)—A virtual unknown was out in front today at the halfway mark of the 31st Western Open Golf Tournament.

Such a thing has happened before, of course, in many major golf tournaments but in this one the lead of Leo Biagetti of Sandusky, Ohio, was marked by a wave of withdrawals by top pros who probably never had heard of Mr. Biagetti.

Defending champion E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla., was one who gave up. He said he hadn't been feeling well and was too tired to finish.

Then he was joined on the sidelines by pros Julius Boros of Midland, N. C.; Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex.; and Dale Morey of Martinsville, Ind., runner-up for last year's national amateur championship.

They didn't offer any reason but the cold weather following Thursday's rain sent scores soaring, except Biagetti, of course, and that may have had a part in their decision.

It was cold and windy on the Kenwood Country Club course yesterday. It took a 36-hole score of 153 or better to get into the final two days of play.

Dave Douglas of Grossinger, N. Y., the first day leader, sagged badly and took a 74 to go with his 68 for a 142 half-way count.

Two strokes behind Biagetti was Jackie Burke of Klamath Lake, N. Y., who knocked another stroke off par for a 70 and a 139 total. Running behind Burke in a field of 60 were Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., a former National Open champion, and Bob Rosburg, a San Francisco pro now playing out of Chicago. Both shot 140s. Mangrum was the National Open champion in 1947. Rosburg is another of the unknowns in the field.

The Clevelanders' roster includes such players as Dick Knepper, Jimmy Barr, Herb Greene and a Texan new to Ohio, John Bryan. The latter rates three goals in national records.

For tomorrow's game Salem will ride Roy Bates, Harry Frick, Willie Smith and Jim Pidgeon.

In all this season the Salem Polo Club will play nine games here and eight on the road.

Pony League Play Opens

Diner Tops Mullins, Eljer Defeats Bliss

Salem Diner and Eljer CIO 3816 won games as the Pony League opened its season's activities Thursday evening at Centennial Park.

In the first game, Moe Meissner of Eljer chucked a three-hitter in limiting Bliss to a lone last-inning tally. The winners also collected only three bingles from losing hurler Dave Baird, but stretched their safeties into seven tallies to win 7-1. Loni Waiwaiole collected two of Eljer's three hits.

In the second contest, Salem Diner came from five runs behind to nip Mullins 7-6. After Mullins had jumped out to a quick 6-1 lead at the end of an inning and a half, Diner collected three runs in the second, another in the third, and then added the tying and winning markers in the fourth.

Hayes Covert was the winning pitcher. Larry Snider hurled for Mullins. Dale Swartz had three hits for the winners and Snider, the pitcher, tried hard to win his own game, chipping in with three of Mullins' six hits.

Both games were limited to five innings because of rain.

LAUSSE SCORES TKO
NEW YORK (AP)—Eduardo Lausse, the scowling Argentine knock-out artist, has joined the long line yelling "I want Olson."

Charlie Johnson, Lausse's manager, said promoter Jim Norris had talked to him about the possibility of Lausse boxing Bobo Olson in the fall—if the middleweight champ successfully defends against Rocky Castellani in August.

Lausse, a 26-year-old left hooker, stopped the veteran Joe Rindone last night at Madison Square Garden on a technical knockout in 1:28 of the second round. The baldish Rindone simply was unable to stand up under Lausse's punching.

Lausse weighed 156, Rindone 161.

Eight-Race Program At Canfield Is Set
After missing one night of racing at the Canfield Speedway this week, the stock car drivers are anxiously awaiting the green flag at tonight's eight-race program.

The Sportsmen Division and Hard Top Class will clash in these races, and fans will see the largest field of cars ever to assemble at the Canfield track. The entry list will probably be about 75.

Lie Detector Can Spot Insane Person Quicker Than Doctor

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—What happens when you take a lie detector test?

If you're brought to the lie detector room at the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation located at the London Prison Farm you'll run into some extremely courteous gentlemen.

You'll meet Alvis Kimball, Pete Galloway or Joe Bartina, who regularly run the lie detector there, or perhaps the bureau's chief investigator, Fred Degler.

They'll ask if you've had a good meal in the last few hours and if not insist that whoever brings you there takes you to a restaurant. They'll inquire about whether you had a good night's sleep, whether the ride there was tiring. And they will ask whether you have been questioned shortly before the test.

They try to eliminate any hostility you might have toward the polygraph, commonly known as the lie detector, because they want the results to be accurate. You have to take the test voluntarily and you'll sign a statement saying that you do.

Then they'll explain how the strange-looking machine works. You'll lie down on a couch while an operator fastens to your body connections with the machine that will record minute changes in some bodily functions—blood pressure, breathing and the body electrical current. These changes will be recorded on a moving tape which trained operators read to determine whether you answer their questions truthfully.

The first few questions will be "neutral" questions so the operator can tell how you react. He might ask if your name is John Doe and if you rode to the bureau in a car.

Then he slips in a question having to do with the case under investigation. Do you know anything about the such-and-such robbery?

A few more "neutral" questions follow. The last question may be: Have you given truthful answers to all of the questions before? Sometimes, just to make sure, you'll be asked the same questions several times.

The lie detector test is not like the third degree. The operators won't try to bat a confession out of you. They just want to know whether you are answering the questions truthfully.

In some cases, they'll read the questions to you before the test begins. That's so you know exactly what will be asked and can't claim they're shooting questions at you.

If you're guilty, and the test so indicates, you may do as others have done, make a confession on the spot.

The lie detector has protected the innocent as well as exposed the guilty.

L. A. Hollingsworth, chief of the bureau, tells of the case of a girl who accused a cab driver of trying to molest her while driving her to school. The driver, a former convict, was picked up. The lie detector indicated he was innocent. Later on the girl admitted she had made up the accusation when the cab driver refused to give her free rides in his cab. And Hollingsworth says that's not the only time an innocent man has been saved.

Don't try to outsmart the ma-

DEMANDS LIKE RULE—Sen. John L. McClellan (R., Ark.) is pictured during a heated exchange with Sen. Joseph McCarthy over the release of confidential documents. Senator McClellan called for an Administration decision on whether members of Congress are entitled to security information obtained through "theft" if congressional committees cannot get it by subpoena.

chine by holding your breath. Hollingsworth says it can't be done. Sometimes the lie detector can't be used. It will spot an insane person quicker than one can be spotted by a psychiatrist, and some drugs will so alter body functions the subject won't have normal reactions.

Red-Inspired Honduras Strike Paralyzes Sections Of Country

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (U)—Honduras, nervous neighbor of left-wing Guatemala, is emerging with U.S. help—as a stout Western ally in the cold war against communism in Central America. But a strike which the government says was Red-inspired is plaguing the government, and incidentally requiring U.S. housewives to pay more for bananas.

This tiny republic is strengthening its slim army. The United States has airlifted arms to Honduras to bolster army expansion. More military equipment will come by ship.

The government has started cracking the whip over leaders of a month-old strike which has paralyzed the country's rich north coast banana belt. Police have jailed the leader of the strike committee and three aids.

Honduras army units have been stationed throughout the strike area.

Long before Communist activities in Guatemala leaped into the American limelight with a 10 million dollar weapons shipment from Poland, the strike had led Honduras to see red over the border in Guatemala. Relations were strained severely. The Honduran Foreign Ministry charged Communist agitators from Guatemala had infiltrated the ranks of the strikers.

Now, mountain-ribbed Honduras has become a bastion for the anti-Communist resistance movement of Guatemalan exiles. Carlos Castillo Armas, 40-year-old former lieutenant colonel in the Guatemalan army, has headquarters in Tegucigalpa. His movement stretches to El Salvador through Guatemala and into Mexico.

Despite uneasiness between the two countries, Honduran Foreign Minister J. Edgardo Valenzuela feels there is no cause for alarm. "I do not think Guatemala wants a war," he said in an interview. "She has no reason to start one."

The Honduras government has under study its reply to Guatemala's surprise invitation last month to sign a friendship and non-aggression pact. The offer followed the Honduras charge that Guatemalans had meddled in the strike. Guatemala insisted it had been "unjustly accused."

Two Guatemalan consuls were tossed out of Honduras on charges of "subversive activities" as a result of tension over the strike. With some 25,000 workers idle and losses estimated at $200,000 a week—one third of the average weekly national income in Honduras—Valenzuela declared the strike constitutes "our main concern."

The walkout over wages and other benefits has disrupted all operations of the United Fruit Co. In the north coast area, bananas are falling off the trees and unsprayed leaves are being hit by disease.

Negotiations to end the strike broke down Monday when Cesar Augusto Coto, secretary of the Central Strike Committee, repudiated previous discussions between strike representatives and United Fruit. Coto and three aides were jailed Monday night in connection with strike agitation in Lalima, United Fruit headquarters.

Mediators are seeking to get new strike committees organized to resume negotiations.

First major strike in Honduras history, the walkout which started in late March caught company officials by surprise. The organized way the strike spread has led to the belief that this is a long-planned episode.

The Standard Fruit Co., managed to reach strike settlements in its section of the banana belt, granting pay boosts ranging up to 10 per cent.

The government this week expressed sympathy with labor's efforts for "just betterment" of its lot, but stressed it would not tolerate any threat to public peace.

Oppose Dropping Of Bus Service

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Myron Weis, president of the Wellsville City Council, told a state utilities commission attorney-examiner Friday that if a portion of the present bus service between Wellsville and Steubenville is abandoned, "it certainly will work a hardship" on a number of people.

Weis testified in a hearing on proposed abandonment of Wellsville-to-Steubenville service by the Valley Motor Transit Co., proposed service between Steubenville and Port Homer by a new company, the Steubenville Bus Co., and a request by Greyhound Bus Co. to pick up passengers the new firm will not reach.

Weis told of receiving 84 letters from people protesting the proposed change in service. He suggested the hearing be moved to Wellsville so people would have a chance to protest in person.

"These people are poor people," he said. "They are the people who need the service. They can't afford the gasoline to come down here and appear before the commission."

State Rep. Delmar T. O'Hara, James L. McSweeney, Wellsville city solicitor, and John Ridder, secretary of the East Liverpool chamber of Commerce, were at the hearing.

Nun Kills Self As Penance For Lie

BADDESLEY CLINTON, England (U)—Sister Antony, a nun of the barefoot Order of Poor Clare, once lied about her age. As penance she soaked her sackcloth robes in kerosene and burned herself to death.

A group of sisters found the aged woman's body last Monday in an outbuilding of the secluded Roman Catholic convent here. Yesterday a coroner's court moved inside the convent walls to investigate Sister Antony's death.

Brown-clad nuns sat weeping in the improvised courtroom as their chaplain, the Rev. John Dale, told the dead sister's story.

"Two days before her death," he said, "Sister Antony came to me and said she felt very guilty. I asked what was wrong and she told me that many years ago she had given the date of her birth on an insurance form as 1894, whereas she knew it was 1891."

"I told her it was ridiculous to worry, but she seemed to think it was a heinous crime. She told me her whole 27 years here had been one huge lie or worse."

The coroner commented: "To those who live in the outside world, this discrepancy would have been of little significance. To her in the high religious standard of her life in the convent, it was great trouble."

The verdict—suicide while of unsound mind.

Battleship Missouri To Be Decommissioned

WASHINGTON (U)—The Navy said today the 45,000-ton battleship Missouri will be decommissioned this fall.

The Japanese surrender was signed aboard the battlewagon.

Landlocked Utah has chosen the sea gull as its state bird, recalling a flight of sea gulls in 1848 which saved state crops from a plague of crickets.
